[No. 5078.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
This Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.

A sovereign remedy for colds, obsteinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—
To persons who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back
Loss of appetite Indigestion
Impurity of blood Melancholy
Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Livid weakneses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing their root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature's weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops.

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1817.

MISCELLANY.

COMMUNICATED FOR THE GAZETTE.

We are not writing Lord Byron's private history, though, from the connexion already stated between his poetry and his character, we feel ourselves forced upon considering his literary life, his department, and even his personal appearance. But we know enough even of his private story to give our warrant that though his youth may have shared somewhat too largely in the indiscretion of these left too early masters of their own actions and fortunes, falsehood and malice alone can impute to him any real cause for hopeless remorse or gloomy misanthropy. To what, then, are we to ascribe the singular peculiarity which induced an author of such talent, and so well skilled in tracing the darker impressions which guilt and remorse leave on the human character, so frequently to affix features peculiar to himself to the robbers and to the corsairs which he has sketched with a pencil as forcible as that of Salvator Rosa? More than one answer may be returned to the question; nor do we pretend to say which is best warranted by the facts. The practice may arise from a temperament which radical and constitutional melancholy has, as in the case of Hamlet, predisposed to identify its owner with scenes of that deep and arousing interest which arises from the stings of conscience contending with the stubborn energy of pride, and delighting to be placed in supposed situations of guilt and danger, as some men love instinctively to tread the giddy edge of a precipice, or, holding by some frail twig, to stoop forward over the abyss into which the dark torrent discharges itself. Or it may be that these disguises were assumed capriciously, as a man might choose the cloak, pincard, and dark-lantern of a bravo for his disguise at a masquerade. Or, feeling his own powers in painting the sombre and the horrible, Lord Byron assumed in his fervor the very semblance of the characters he describes, like an actor who presents on the stage at once his own person and the tragic character with which, for the time, he is invested. Nor is it altogether incompatible with his character to believe that, in contempt of all the criticisms which on this account had attended Child Harold, he was determined to show to the public how little he was affected by them, and how effectually it was in his power to compel attention and respect, even when imparting a portion of his own likeness and his own peculiarities to pirates and outlaws.

But although we do not pretend to ascertain the motive on which Lord Byron acted in bringing the peculiarities of his own sentiments and feelings so frequently before his reader, it is with no little admiration that we regard these extraordinary powers, which, amidst this seeming uniformity, could continue to rivet the public attention, and secure general and continued applause. The versatility of authors who have been able to draw and support characters as different from each other as from their own, has given to their productions the inexpressible charm of variety, and has often secured them against that neglect which in general attends what is technically called mannerism. But it was reserved to Lord Byron to present the same character on the public stage again and again, varied only by the exertions of that powerful genius which, searching the springs of passion & of feeling in their innermost recesses, knew how to combine their operations, so that the interest was eternally varying and never abated, although the most important personage of the drama retained the same lineaments. It will one day be considered as not the least remarkable literary phenomenon of this age that during a period of four years, notwithstanding the quantity of distinguished poetical talent of which we may be permitted to boast, a single author, and he managing his pen with the careless and negligent ease of a man of quality, and chusing for his theme subjects so very similar and personages bearing so close a resemblance to each other, did, in despite of these circumstances, of the unamiable attributes with which he usually invested his heroes, and of the proverbial fickleness of the public, maintain the ascendancy in their favor, which he had acquired by his first matured production. So, however, it indisputably has been; and those comparatively small circles of admirers excepted which assemble naturally around individual poets of eminence, Lord Byron has been for some time, and may for some time continue to be the champion of the English Parnassus. If his empire over the public mind be in any measure diminished, it arises from no literary failure of his own, and from no triumph of his competitors, but from other circumstances so frequently alluded to in the publications before us that they cannot pass without some notice, which we will study to render as brief as it is impartial.

Alexandria, November 21.

Mr. SNOWDEN.

A law was passed on the 20th June, 1809, by the common council of Alexandria, prohibiting any person from keeping swine within the limits of the corporation, and authorising any white person to kill and destroy, or seize and take to his private use any swine found going at large. By this act it is made the duty of the superintendent of police and the constables of the town, and they are thereby required to seize, kill and destroy, or to appropriate to their own use, any swine so found going at large, contrary to the law. The citizens in that part of the town where I reside, have recently suffered great annoyance, and sustained considerable damage in their yards and gardens, by the nocturnal visits of three or four itinerant swine of the "swinish multitude" that at this time infest the town. I request the favor of you to inform the police constables, through the medium of your paper, of the existence of the law which I have cited, and to stimulate them to the discharge of the duty which it imposes upon them, by assuring them that every hog going at large within the limits of the corporation, either in the day or in the night, may become their own property, if they will only put themselves to the trouble of taking them up.

There are several Agents from different Provinces of South America at present in the United States, with whose names and capacities we are but indifferently acquainted, as accident has placed them in our possession. We should be glad to announce them all, if it were in our power, and will do so if the information is put into our possession from an authentic source.

M. Gual, who had been long in the U. States, and whom we have always respected for every thing we know of him, formerly sent as minister from Venezuela, is now stated by the Aurora to have been appointed Govr of Amelia Island, under the flag of Mexico. Of this appointment the southern papers give us no information.

The same paper informs us that "Don Manuel de Aguirre, Commissioner from the Independent Governments of South America, Buenos Ayres & Chili, has appointed Don Manuel Moreno for his agent in Baltimore." M. Aguirre, whose official capacity we are thus apprized of, we have heard, has been in this city lately.

EDITORS' CORRESPONDENCE.

Mobile, Oct. 11, 1817.

I see a number of strange things along the Alabama Territory running the editorial gauntlet, but all very quietly: not a lash is drawn. The bare-faced culprits run on, and because they have the words terrestrial paradise painted on their foreheads, not a soul has the heart to give a single stroke. I do not mean to deny that it is a good country, but I have such a dread of the disappointments produced by extravagant encomiums, and of the consequences of those disappointments on the prominent character of our country and the happiness of the people, that I really do wish that persons who write letters to their distant friends, would lower their tone a little. The country now called the Alabama Territory combines two advantages not to be found in any other part of the federal dominions. It has cheap lands, and they are convenient to trade. Kentucky, Ohio, & Indiana, have better lands, but they are too distant from market. On the other hand, the lands of West Florida are near to market; but they are good for nothing.

There are good lands in the Alabama Territory, not generally indeed, but in sufficient quantities; and they have heretofore been cheap. Your own paper has raised the nominal value, and if that nominal value could be kept up, one of the great advantages of the country, cheap lands, would disappear.

The wonderful productiveness of the best lands, viz. 100 bushels of corn to the acre, which is mentioned in the newspapers, is quite a novel circumstance to those who have lived here many years. I believe that 20 barrels to the acre is considered as a good average crop, but as these 20 barrels contain only a bushel and a half each, the amount is only 30 bushels. There may be lands which will produce 100 bushels, but I believe they are unknown to the old settlers.

DREADFUL HURRICANE!

From Capt. Williams, of the brig Louisa, from Antigua, reported under our marine head, we learn that a dreadful hurricane arose on the 21st ult. in the West-Indies, the violence of which was particularly felt at St. Lucia, Barbados, Dominque, Martinique and St. Vincents, where considerable damage was sustained by the shipping and estates generally. At St. Lucia the gale was more particularly severe. All the vessels in that port were entirely lost; the government house and barracks blown down; the governor, his lady and child, and most of the staff, killed; about 200 officers and soldiers either killed or wounded, and all the estates of the island rendered a heap of ruins.

Some of the particulars of the damages at Barbados were stated in our last. Captain W. does not furnish any thing in addition thereto.

At Dominque, nearly the whole town was inundated, and the destruction of property immense—some few lives were lost—the island nearly desolated—did not learn that any vessels were lost.

At Martinique, about 50 sail of vessels were driven out to sea from St. Pierres, principally Americans, and having no ballast, provisions, or other necessities for a long voyage, have probably been lost. Only one of the above vessels had been heard of (a French ship, which had got into St. Eustatia)—the estates here also were greatly damaged.

At St. Vincents, ten sail of vessels went on shore and were nearly all lost.

A ship, from Philadelphia bound to St. Barths, with wine and brandy, was lost on Barbuda reef, the crew and part of the cargo saved.

It was reported at Antigua that H. M. ship Antelope, of 50 guns, Rear Admiral Harvey, was lost in the gale—she sailed from Pigeon Island for Barbados the night previous to it.

From the Boston Palladium Nov. 11.

We are informed, by Mr. Dyer, keeper of the Light House, at Race Point, that on the night of the 31st ult. his brother discovered 8 sea-faring men on the beach by the light house, who requested of him to have lodgings. They stated they were from Havana, (where they sold their vessel) and had taken passage in a vessel bound to an eastern port, but wishing to get to Boston, they had landed there in a fishing boat, presuming they should reach B. sooner, and with less expense, than from the port where the vessel was bound.

The men were afterwards brought to Provincetown, (with the exception of one who had his leg broken, &c) and 5 of them arrived at this port on Saturday evening, in stoop Com. Ferry. Three remained behind.

Five of the above men appeared to be Americans, (said they belonged to the southward) and the remainder foreigners. They had money about them. One appeared to have been master of the vessel.

Two of the sailors went by the names of Greene and Chase. We understand that several of them have since told a different story from the above: and we have reasons for believing that they are not from whence they represent. There is a possibility that they belonged to the brig which was picked up near Cape Ann the day previous.

Baltimore, Nov. 18.

FROM MEXICO.

Some further particulars have been received by the way of Havana, of the siege and evacuation of the fort at Comanja, which place is situated about 100 leagues north westerly from the city of Mexico. After having been besieged 21 days, by the royalists under Gen. Linau, the garrison of the fort, under the command of Gen. Moreno, one of Mina's officers, finding themselves closely pressed, fought their way through the royal troops in the night, in which desperate act, they are said to have lost a considerable number of men. Their object was to proceed to join General Mina's corps, which was not far distant, and which, it was supposed, was not sufficiently strong to have afforded relief to the garrison. This event took place on the night between the 19th and 20th of August.

By the evacuation of the fort, the patriots abandoned to the royalists twenty-one pieces of cannon, and 350 balls; a quantity of grape shot; 211 bombs; 250 lances; 400 muskets; 12,500 cartridges; flints; lead; leather for cavalry and infantry; 600 saddles, and a great many articles necessary and useful for war.

From St. Mary's, Nov. 8.

The U. S. gun-boat, No. 168, Lieut. McCull, has arrived here, after a very boisterous passage. Amelia appears to be all in a bustle, and there is a constant cannonading there—the place is under martial law. Report says two prizes are off. Annexed you have the last proclamation issued by Commodore Aury.

INHABITANTS OF FERNANDINA!—For some days past you have witnessed the scandalous transactions of a faction, composed of men who, existing and tolerated on this island by our generosity, have solely been engaged in subverting social order. They are mercenaries, traitors, or cowards, who abandoned the cause of republicanism in the hour of danger, and who, either hired by our enemies, or misled by the intrigues of a few aspiring individuals, have attempted to involve us in all the complicated horrors of a civil war. Citizens, we are republicans from principle—our fortunes have been spent, and our lives oft exposed for this most glorious cause. We have come here to plant the tree of liberty, to foster free institutions, and to wage war against the tyrant of Spain, the oppressor of America, and the enemy to the rights of man. We are ever ready to pay obedience to the principles of republicanism, but firmly determined never to adhere to the dictates of a faction.

When the heat of passion shall be no more, when public peace and tranquility are restored, we shall see with a lively pleasure the establishment of a provisional government most suitable to our common interest, and to the advancement of our glorious cause.

Americans, Englishmen, Irishmen and Frenchmen—men of all nations, we are brethren; let us forever be united by the love of liberty and hatred to tyranny.

Soldiers and Sailors, martial law is declared to be in force for ten days. Let us give to our brethren of the state of the Floridas proofs of our military discipline, and of our respect for the properties of the inhabitants.

Head-quarters of Fernandina, November 5, 1817, 8 and 1 of the Independence.

Sketches of the life and character of Patrick Henry. Printed at Philadelphia, pp. 427.

We are favored by a friend with the following review. From the confidence we repose in the integrity of his judgment, we are satisfied that the opinions he expresses are the result of his own unbiased understanding. Virginia owes much to Mr. Wirt for the present he has now made to her. It is one of the most beautiful and interesting works we have for a long time perused. The author has done what we believed to have been almost impossible. He has raised the name of Patrick Henry even in Virginia. Great as we always deemed Mr. Henry to be, he has made us think him still greater. The reason is, that he has given us proofs of the opinion we had formed of him. We had heard much of Mr. Henry—now we know him. He will spread the same proofs throughout the United States and Europe. So much was this record wanting, that it was but the other day, a writer in Philadelphia, enumerating the great men whom Virginia had put forth during the revolution, placed P. Henry next to the last on a list of thirteen.

DEDICATION.

"To the YOUNG MEN OF VIRGINIA, this work is respectfully inscribed, by the author."

COMMUNICATED.

LIFE OF PATRICK HENRY.

A literary work from the pen of Mr. Wirt, which as well on account of the subject as the writer, has excited no common interest in the public mind, is at length submitted to the test of criticism. The "Sketches of the life and character of Patrick Henry," has been published in Philadelphia and Baltimore, and will soon be in the hands of every man of taste and literature in the state of Virginia. What reception it may meet with from critics by profession, we will not venture to anticipate; for that often depends on other circumstances besides the merit of a work; but that those who read for entertainment and instruction will be highly gratified by the perusal of these "Sketches," we can confidently undertake to aver.

Our opinion is founded as well on the matter as the style of this production—an opinion we shall endeavor to maintain and illustrate, by giving in the sequel a brief and general outline of its contents, and some few extracts from the work itself, which will on examination appear to be fair specimens of the other parts of it. In doing this, however, we expressly disclaim the pretension of furnishing thereby any adequate means of determining the merits of the author. We know, indeed, that many of our countrymen from their opinions of every new publication, from the accounts given of it by "the Reviewers;" but we have ourselves been too often misled by these partial and erring guides, not to protest on all occasions against the conclusiveness of their authority. To the work itself then, we refer all who wish to think on this subject for themselves—Our object is only to draw to it the notice of the public; in doing which, we consider it our duty to speak with impartiality of its merits or defects.

Many persons entertain the opinion that to narrate the actions of a man's life, and ascertain the motives which led to them, is no difficult undertaking. But they will think very differently, who recollect how many have attempted, and how few succeeded in this department of literature. In history itself there have not been so many failures—Of the numerous biographies which (particularly in modern times) have issued from the press, we can scarcely select more than four or five of much intrinsic excellence. The rest derive their interest from the incidents they relate, and the characters they describe; and the same incidents and characters would still be interesting in any dress or under any form. We think therefore, that that native writer who does venture on this perilous field, and whose daring is crowned with success, has a very high claim to the gratitude and admiration of his countrymen—for his labors, besides their immediate good effects, in holding up to the imitation of the living the illustrious example of the dead, raise our national character in a point where it has been most assailed, and add the wreath of literature, to the column already ornamented with the trophies of our naval and military glory. We have lately seen a very favorable specimen of this kind of writing in the life of Fulton from the pen of Mr. Colden—and we have now before us a work which we think will bear a comparison with Middleton's life of Cicero, so often referred to by our author; and is not very inferior to the prototype which he evidently had before him—the life of Agricola by Tacitus.

There is another reason why the appearance of a work like this, should be regarded by the people of the U. States with interest and affection. Every thing consistent with truth, which tends to exalt the character of the revolution; and of the men who commenced, and conducted it to its triumphant issue, has a happy effect in confirming our predilections in favor of the form of government they established, and rendering it dearer to us by association. We are thereby taught, to light our lamp at the pure and holy flame of the revolution. To draw thence, examples for our imitation and rules for our conduct—to place a proper value on the blessings we enjoy at the price of so many sacrifices—and to recur frequently to those first principles by whose test we ought always to try the actions of our cotemporaries and the measures of our government. Considered in this point of view, these Sketches afford us the most gratifying information. Some of the prominent characters of the revolution, are placed in a new and brilliant light—facts which had been misunderstood are explained—striking anecdotes illustrative of some interesting periods of our history are given—and the motives and conduct of our people, under their severest trials, vindicated. Indeed we cannot but remark that if, as has been somewhere said, Currie's life of Burns is calculated to impress the reader with a very high idea of the intelligence of the Scottish peasantry, for which Scotland itself is indebted to the writer, the present work is no less calculated to increase the reputation of Virginians, for which we ought all to acknowledge our obligations to Mr. Wirt.

To return however to the work itself—Patrick Henry, as our author informs us, was born on the 29th of May, 1736, in the county of Hanover. His parents were not rich, but in easy circumstances and of respectable character. The son seems to have given in his youth no evidences of his future greatness. His companions recollect nothing that distinguished him advantageously from other young men, unless a certain propensity to observe and comment upon the human character might be so regarded. He was nurtured in idleness, and had none of the benefits of a regular education. At the age of 15 he was placed behind the counter of a country merchant, and the next year was with his brother William "set up in trade." This proved a most unfortunate adventure, and was not long in coming to its usual catastrophe. At the age of eighteen he married a Miss Shelton, the daughter of an honest but needy farmer; and "Mr. Henry had to delve the ground with his own hands for subsistence." "Such," exclaims our author, "are the vicissitudes of human life! It is curious to contemplate this giant genius, destined in a few years to guide the councils of a mighty nation, but unconscious of the intellectual treasures which he possessed, encumbered, at the early age of 18, with the cares of a family; obscure, unknown and almost unnoticed; digging, with weaned limbs and with an aching heart, a small spot of barren earth for bread, and blessing the hour of night, which relieved him from toil. Little could the wealthy and great of the land, as they rolled along the highway in splendor, and beheld the young rustic at work in the coarse garb of a laborer, covered with dust and melting in the sun, have suspected that this was the man who was destined not only to humble their pride, but to make the prince himself tremble on his distant throne, and to shake the brightest jewels from the British crown. Little, indeed, could he himself have suspected it; for amidst the distresses which thickened around him at this time, and threatened him not only with obscurity but with famine, no hope came to cheer the gloom, nor did there seem to him any earthly consolation, save that which he found in the bosom of his own family."

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Further Proceedings.

TUESDAY, NOV. 11.—A motion was made, and agreed to unanimously, that the Address of the President, at the commencement of the session of the Board, be spread on the Journal. The Governor's address was as follows:

"GENTLEMEN—This being the first annual meeting since I have had the honor of being placed in the highly responsible situation which the law has assigned me at this Board, I will ask your indulgence whilst I make the declaration that it shall be my unceasing endeavour to manifest an impartiality and disinterestedness which will satisfactorily evince that I shall always be governed by a due and deliberate regard to the individual feelings of this Board, whilst I shall advance with an undeviating eye and steady step, to what I conceive to be the most important and essential interests of the whole State.

"Were I not convinced that all the members composing this Board had devoted much reflection upon the important subject of the internal improvement of the State, and particularly the sections of it which they represent, I should have deemed it my duty to have made an effort to have briefly presented to their view, such prominent subjects as I might have deemed most worthy their consideration. But when I see around me those who I know to be well qualified for the discharge of their duty, and amongst them the very persons to whose zeal and devotion the institution is in a great degree indebted for its existence, I should be very ignorant of myself, and very arrogant, were I to attempt to prescribe subjects, or direct their deliberations.

"No important institution can be brought completely into operation without encountering the delays and difficulties consequent upon a state of incipency. By those who do not witness every unavoidable embarrassment which necessarily retards, there is rarely that liberal allowance made which is justly due. It is with regret that I have seen an impatience in every section of the state, which could not be gratified. While I have properly appreciated the motive, I cannot help fearing that it will beget an unfriendly spirit, which may endanger the foundation of the institution, and destroy the best efforts and fairest prospects for the internal improvement of the State, that have been devised since the establishment of the government. Yet I can never cease to cherish, with the fondest anticipation, the day when this great project shall be matured. For, whether it is considered as involving individual benefits, by promoting wealth and industry, or whether it is regarded in a political point of view, as strengthening the ties of fraternity between the eastern and western sections of the state, by a direct intimacy which always goes to a subversion of narrow prejudices, and by the additional union of an inseparable interest; or, indeed, whether as touching the great character of the State, it is equally the subject of my deepest concern and most anxious solicitude. Permit me therefore to reiterate my assurances, that in every step towards the promotion of so important an object both to the people and the State, it will always give sincere pleasure to afford my most cordial co-operation."

A resolution was adopted in instructing the Public Engineers to survey a route for a canal from Richmond to the route of the contemplated canal, connecting the waters of the Roanoke and Appomattox rivers, so as to meet that route at the most convenient and eligible point; provided provision shall previously have been made for defraying the expenses, according to an Act creating a fund for Internal Improvement.

Sundry documents on the subject of the Navigation of the Rappahannock River and its branches, were referred to a Committee of three to report their opinion thereupon.

Mr. Bernard Payton was re-elected Secretary to the Board for one year.

Wednesday, Nov. 11.—The committee to whom was referred the Report of the Principal Engineer, and sundry other documents in relation to the Rappahannock River, made the following Report:

"That in pursuance of the said resolution, they called upon the Principal Engineer, and requested him to consider the said Report and documents and to make an estimate of the expense necessary to render the said river and its branches navigable."

...we consider it our duty to speak impartially of its merits or defects. Many persons entertain the opinion that to narrate the actions of a man's life, and ascertain the motives which led him, is no difficult undertaking. But I will think very differently, who reflect how many have attempted, and few succeeded in this department of nature. In history itself there have been so many failures—Of the numerous biographies which (particularly in modern times) have issued from the press, we can scarcely select more than five or six of much intrinsic excellence. The rest derive their interest from the incidents they relate, and the characters of characters would still be interesting in any dress or under any form. Sundry documents on the subject of the Navigation of the Rappahannock river and its branches, were referred to a Committee of three to report their opinion thereupon.

Mr. Bernard Peyton was re-elected Secretary to the Board for one year.

Wednesday, Nov. 11.—The committee to whom was referred the Report of the Principal Engineer, and sundry other documents in relation to the Rappahannock River, made the following Report:

"That, in pursuance of the said resolution, they called upon the Principal Engineer, and requested him to consider the said Report and documents and to make an estimate of the expense necessary to render the said river and its branches navigable to the points designated by the charter of the Rappahannock company, so as to afford a navigation as good as the present navigation of James River above the falls.

"The Engineer accordingly made such estimate, which accompanies this report. Your Committee are of opinion that in the present state of the population and resources of the country interested in this subject, it would not be practicable to raise the funds necessary to render the said river navigable, upon the extensive and perfect plan, originally proposed by the Engineer, and that it will be attaining a beneficial and valuable object for the present to put the navigation of the Rappahannock into a situation as convenient and useful as the present navigation of James River.

"Resolved therefore, as the opinion of this committee, that $300,000 will be sufficient to render the Rappahannock river and its branches navigable according to the provisions of the several acts of Assembly on that subject."

This report being received, it was thereupon resolved by the Board, that the sum of two hundred thousand dollars is necessary and sufficient for the completion of the works required to be effected by the Rappahannock Company according to their charter.

Resolved that a copy of the foregoing resolution be transmitted to the President and directors of the Rappahannock Company.

On motions severally made, the latter clause of the resolution of 12th of June 1816, and the entire one of the 8th November, 1816, which provides that the principal Engineer, (when not otherwise employed in the service of the Board) may engage in other business, were rescinded.

Resolved unanimously, that the address made by the President at the commencement of the present session of the Board, be published in the newspapers of this city.

Adjourned until the 3rd Monday in December next.

From our correspondent at Gibraltar, October 5.

Our market is improving generally, with the exception of flour, which, in consequence of arrivals, and many more expected from England, is declining. We sold a cargo last week at $14, since then a cargo from England sold at $14. It is now 13 a 13 1-2, which is a fair quotation. Fruits, you will observe, are quoted at the breaking prices at Malaga; they are much less here, that is, boxes of Blooms, 1 52 1-2 a 1 50; Muscatels, 2 25 a 2 50. We have great quantities of Blooms, but few Muscatels. These are generally smuggled and do not hold out in weight. Tobacco keeps up at $13 per cwt.; we have 500 hds. which we hold for better prices, and which we expect to realize shortly; not more than 600 hds in first hands, and none expected very soon. Rice is at 7 75 a 8, steady. Brig Cumberland, Marchly, for Alexandria, will sail in 2 days.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty two miles from Alexandria, and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The fields present a good surface for cultivation; and those now untillied, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed; the out-houses are conveniently situated, and the whole have been lately thoroughly repaired and painted. The farm houses, which are all nearly new, are expensive and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate for an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unincumbered.

Thirty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from my service, on the 10th inst. my mulatto house-servant GEORGE, between 18 and 19 years of age, about 5 feet 6 inches high, slender made, pug nose, bushy hair, half of one of his upper front teeth broken off—he is very artful and forward, and a capable house-servant—he took with him a variety of clothing. I will give the above reward, if secured in any jail, so that I get him again, and will pay all reasonable charges if brought home. Masters of vessels and others are forewarned from employing or carrying off said servant at their peril.

C. F. WHITTING, Morven, near Alexandria, stutit

WAS committed to the jail of this county, as a runaway, a Negro lad, who says his name is HENRY, and that he was sold to some Georgiaman, from the estate of William Randall, of Fauquier county, Virginia. He is a bright mulatto, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high, and has been in the habit of a race rider for Mr. Randall. The said lad ran away at Fredericksburg, on his way out. The owner is requested to come and prove his property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

JAS. CAMPBELL, Jailor, October 23 th2m

Twenty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from William Galt, near Fredericksburg, on the Lancaster road, in April last, a Negro Woman, named JULIET, about 30 years of age, 5 feet high, has lost several of her upper fore teeth, speaks quick & sharp—says she was sold by a Mr. Darby, of Anne-Arundel county, to some Georgia traders whom she left near Richmond, Va. and was lodged in Fredericksburg jail, from whence she was sold for her jail fees, & purchased by John P. Thompson, and by him sold to William Galt. It is supposed she is now lurking about the district of Columbia or its vicinity. The above reward will be paid for apprehending and securing her so that I get her.

JAMES GALT, Alexandria, Oct. 6

N. B. Masters of vessels and others are forewarned against carrying off said runaway.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY, on Saturday evening, the 11th inst. my mulatto man, named NED, commonly called Ned McRax alias Spawwse. He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose; had on when he went away a gray coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with clothing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time; she is very black, and, I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. The above reward will be given if taken out of Richmond or Manchester, and twenty-five dollars if taken in either place, and all reasonable expenses paid for delivering him to the subscriber.

DAVID BARCAY, N. B. Masters of vessels and others, are cautioned against harboring, employing or carrying off said fellow, under penalty of the law.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 45, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm; so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number who in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Looseness of spirits the back Loss of appetite Indigestion Impurity of blood Melancholy Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palay, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.
